Please review the information and make any necessary changes.	CYP's were regularly consulted about the operation of the service through a range of formal & informal methods throughout the financial year. YPs were encouraged to share their views on routines, activities, menus, the home environment, relationships with staff, and the support they received. Formal feedback was also obtained through questionnaires, Regulation 73's, and independent monthly visits, where young people could speak privately with visiting professionals. Advocacy services were promoted to ensure children had access to independent support where required. A trauma-informed and child-centred approach was used to support meaningful participation, recognising that some young people communicate their views differently. Feedback from children informed service development, including activities, routines, and improvements within the home environment.

What arrangements were made for consulting people who use the service about the operation of the service during the last financial year?. If available, this field has been pre-filled with last year's Annual Return data. Please review the information and make any necessary changes.	CYP's were regularly consulted about the operation of the service through a range of formal and informal methods throughout the financial year. Consultation took place during key worker sessions, daily discussions, house meetings, care planning meetings, PEP meetings, and CLA reviews. YPs were encouraged to share their views on routines, activities, menus, the home environment, relationships with staff, and the support they received. Formal feedback was also obtained through questionnaires, Regulation 73 visits, and independent monthly visits, where YPs could speak privately with visiting professionals. Advocacy services were promoted to ensure children had access to independent support where required. A trauma-informed and child-centred approach was used to support meaningful participation, recognising that some YPs communicate their views differently. Feedback from children informed service development, including activities, routines, and improvements within the home environment
